

IS LA FOLLETTE TO LEAD FIGHT

Against The Emergency Currency Measure In The Senate This Afternoon?

INDICATIONS POINT TO THIS NOW

Reported That Stone Of Missouri Will Aid In Making Its Passage Almost Impossible This Session.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Indications this afternoon point to the fact that Senator Robert M. La Follette is to lead the fight of the opposition to the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency measure. This became apparent soon after the Senate convened this morning and it was said by those closely interested in the measure that La Follette has secured the aid of Senator Stone of Missouri in his fight and that with the fifteen democrats who remain in the city will make an interesting struggle to defeat the measure by filibustering tactics. Whether he will be successful remains to be seen and the closest watch is being kept of his movements by the republican leaders.

An effort was made in the senate this afternoon by Senator Foraker to compel Senator La Follette, who is conducting the filibuster against the emergency currency bill, to take his seat. Senator Foraker declared Senator La Follette had violated the rules of the senate by charging Senator Aldrich with not having answered his questions fairly. After some skirmishing the senate voted to permit Senator La Follette to proceed "in order," only Foraker voting against the proposition.

QUARANTINED FAMILY HAVE BEEN WITHOUT ANYTHING TO EAT

Joseph Zastoupel and Family Have Had No Food for Three Days.

Three days ago Joseph Zastoupel's house on Western avenue was quarantined by Health Officer Wandell because a little girl in the family aged six years had the diphtheria. At the time Mrs. Zastoupel informed Dr. Wandell that she and her eight children had nothing in the house to eat and asked him to procure something for them. Dr. Wandell went to Post Commissioner S. B. Kenyon and told him that the family had no money and asked the poor commissioner to provide for them. Mr. Kenyon refused to provide anything beyond the medical attendance and the medicine. Mr. Zastoupel, who works in Schell and McKee's lumberyard, has been unable to work since the quarantine and has, therefore, no way of obtaining any money. Dr. Wandell investigated and found that the family had had some money in the bank, but that the medical attendance for a little girl who died some time ago had taken it all and that they now had nothing.

The courts have held that the right to quarantine persons afflicted with contagious diseases carries with it the obligation for the city, county, town or village thus quarantining such persons to furnish them with the necessities of life. Inasmuch as the city pays a certain per cent of every person's salary for the support of the poor in the city it would seem that the poor commissioner was the proper man to apply in such a case as the present one.

Health Officer Wandell on Mr. Kenyon's refusal then went to the city attorney, and under the thirty-third section of chapter four of the city charter the health officer may with the written consent of the city attorney purchase such supplies and materials as are necessary for the carrying out of his duties. Under this section the city attorney authorized Dr. Wandell to buy necessities for the family, and they were sent to them today. They claimed to have had nothing to eat since they were quarantined except two loaves of bread which Mr. Zastoupel purchased this morning.

Under the rules adopted by the state board of health also the expense of placing quarantine and waiting upon the quarantined family, seeing that they have the necessities of life, the disinfection of the premises, purchase of disinfecting material, should be met by the town, village, or city in which such quarantine is established.

BLODGETT MILLS LOST SMYKESTACKS

Hiawatha Springs Co. Barge Got Tangled up with Guy Wire and Big Metal Chimney Is in Bed of River.

Since Wednesday afternoon the Blodgett Milling Co.'s forty-two-foot smokyblack barge, lying in the bed of the Rock river and the engine is counted on to reinforce with the horsepower of the 80 H. P. provided by the water wheels has been out of commission. The voyage of the Hiawatha Springs Co.'s big barge from the dam to the Milwaukee street bridge and back again was responsible for the downfall of the stack. Eugene Fish and his crew who made the trip to drive some piles for the Janesville Electric Co. were unable to properly guide the craft with the steaming apparatus at hand and when their tireless ran into and yanked loose one of the big guy-wires which was fastened to an iron stake in the river, the smokyblack came crashing down upon the roof and rolled over into the drink. As it had almost served its time and was broken and bent in the fall, it will be allowed to remain there. A new one 48 feet high has been ordered and will be put in place next Tuesday.

URGE CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOL STUDIES

Oshkosh Normal President Thinks Correlated Studies Should Be Combined.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 29.—That the courses of study in the public schools as taught at present should be simplified by the process of elimination was the contention of J. A. Keith, president of the Oshkosh Normal school, in an address Wednesday evening before the County Superintendents' association at their state convention at Oshkosh Normal school. Mr. Keith held that correlated studies should be combined. We divide the public studies into six different classes, or six great worlds, as he called it, and urged that the congestion be relieved by combining subjects now taught separately.

JUMPS FOR A BALL AND LANDS ON NAIL

Harry Hoey of Beloit Was Severely Injured—Janesville Girl
as Ariel.

Beloit, Wis., May 29.—In jumping to catch a baseball while playing "catch" in his backyard, Harry Hoey, a young man of eighteen years, came down on a rusty nail, sticking in an old board, and is now in danger of losing his foot. The nail penetrated the shoe and went deep into the foot. Miss Lucy Fox of Janesville will take the role of Ariel in "The Tempest" to be presented outdoors on the college grounds this evening by the women's Shakespeare society of the college. The play was to have been Thursday evening, but had to be postponed on account of the rain.

STRIKE OF CIGAR UNIONS SETTLED

Concessions Have Been Made by the Manufacturers and Work Begins Next Week.

Green Bay, Wis., May 29.—The strike which local No. 152 of the National Cigar Makers' Union inaugurated about six weeks ago has been settled. Concessions have been made by the manufacturers and by next week the union men will be at work. Because of slack business a limited number of cigar makers will be taken back. The force in each of the fifteen shops here will be about one-half of the usual number. Forty cigar makers originally struck for higher pay.

The husband and the young girl who lived with them are also confined there. ## INDICTED TODAY BY GRAND JURY

GETTING READY FOR THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Racquets Competitions Began Several Weeks Ago—Golf Contest
Next.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, May 29.—It is doubtful whether many people are aware that the much-discussed Olympic games have already begun. They were ushered in several weeks ago with the racquets competitions, events, however which lost much of their interest and importance in consequence of the absence of foreign talent. The Olympic golf competitions at Deil and Sandwich are next on the list, but even these will not arouse even a small part of the interest which will be evoked later in the purely athletic portions of the prodigious programme.

Monday, July 13, is the date fixed for the first of the Olympic athletic events, and from day to day, for a fortnight or so, the track and field competitions will be in progress. It is hoped that King Edward will not only patronize them in person, but, as was the case with King George of Greece, on the occasion of the Olympic games in Athens two years ago, will take an officially active part. It is yet early to attempt anything like a definite forecast of the results or of the selection of the men to represent their respective countries. Elimination trials are now in progress in several Continental countries. In the United States and Canada the selections will be made for the most part during the coming week. The British trials are to take place in the Stadium tomorrow.

So far as concerns Great Britain and Ireland, it may be taken for granted that the committee will pay serious attention to the chances of such runners as J. P. George, the present far runner; E. H. Montagu, the quarter-mile champion; J. Fairbairn, Crawford, the half-mile champion; G. Butterfield, the mile champion; J. English, the two miles champion; P. H. Nicholson, probably the best of the hammer throwers, and Con Leahy, a star performer in the high jump. Unfortunately for England never was so badly off for sprinters as at the present time, and unless J. W. Morton can find some of his old form there is one event at least which looks like being a foregone conclusion in favor of an American.

60TH BIRTHDAY OF THE BADGER STATE

Was Admitted to the Union Sixty Years Ago Today—Capitol at Beloit Then.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 29.—The state of Wisconsin had a birthday today, it being just sixty years since she was admitted to the Union. At that time the town of Beloit was the capital and Nelson Dowdy held office there as the first governor. Later the capital was changed to Burlington and in 1838 it was removed to Madison.

STOLPER'S WILL WAS FILED FOR PROBATE

Estate of $200,000 Is Divided Between Charles Stolper's Wife and Six Children.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., May 29.—The will of Charles Stolper, who died May 10, 1908, at the age of seventy-five years, which was filed for probate today, discloses an estate of more than $200,000. ## BIG ATHLETIC MEET BEGINS IN THE EAST

Many Candidates for Olympic Games at London are Entered in the Meet.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Philadelphia, Pa., May 29.—Scores of athletes, representing the cream of the Eastern collegiate performance and also a number from the middle West, streamed into Philadelphia this morning to take part in the intercollegiate track and field championships at Franklin Field. The preliminary events on the long programme are set for this afternoon and tomorrow the finals will be contested. The championships of this year are chiefly interesting from the fact that a large number of candidates for the Olympic games in London this summer are among the entries and the showing they will make, will have an important bearing on their chances of going abroad.

In the number of competing athletes and their quality, the present meet comes close to establishing a new record. Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Syracuse, Amherst, Cornell, Williams, Swarthmore, Dartmouth, Brown, Johns Hopkins and Fordham have sent their star performers. Upon the university of Michigan devolves the task of upholding the honors of the West.

Yale, fresh from a victory over Harvard, looms up as dangerous competitor to Cornell, Pennsylvania and Michigan. The Elis are expected to score in almost all of the track events, and should sweep the pole vault. Except in the broad jump, Yale is expected also to score in the other field events, which will put her well up in the front rank. Michigan is well thought of, though her real strength is not known. Cornell, Pennsylvania and Princeton have strong teams. It is the opinion of many competent critics that the competition between the big colleges will be closer than ever this year and that 25 points may win the meet.

James B. Sullivan is the referee of the meet, and G. T. Kirby, Thornton Geddis and Remond Berry from the advisory committee of inspectors. The other officials are: Inspector, Walter Camp; clerk of the course, John S. Dixon; judges at the finish, Bartow S. Weeks, M. P. Halpin, John J. Walsh and F. W. Rubien.

SNELL WAS INSANE WHEN HE MADE HIS LAST WILL SAYS THE JURY IN CASE

Bring In Verdict After Most Sensational Trial
Ever Held in Clinton, Illinois.

(By Associated Press.)

Clinton, Ill., May 29.—Colonel Thomas Snell was insane when he made his last will and testament, leaving his fortune to his niece, Mabel Snell McNamara and setting aside his son old man's wealth, were read in court, many of them too full of utterances that can not be printed, showing the degradation to which women have been allowed to plunge the old man. One minister and his wife and and immediate family. This was the verdict of the jury which came in early this morning after many hours of deliberation. Perhaps there has never been any trial so full of sensational episodes as has the Snell suit. Letters from women, who sold themselves, morally and physically, for the daughter are in practical exile owing to the disclosures made in the former trial which the jury disgorged. Women of social prominence in Clinton and adjacent cities have been in final episodes as has the Snell suit. ## SCHOOLS ENTER FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC

Janesville Has Sent in Entries for Inter-scholastic Meet at Ripon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Ripon, Wis., May 29.—Entries were received this morning from Appleton, Janesville, Oshkosh and Waukegan academy of Beaver Dam for the Ripon interscholastic track and field meet Friday, adding five schools to the number already entered. This will make the Ripon meet the largest held in Wisconsin in years. Nearly 200 athletes representing all sections of the state and the best product of the high schools will appear on the field. The new entries will cause some shuffling in the dope sheet. Waukegan with three as the big point winner was looked upon as a probable winner. Appleton of Janesville, who secured a place in the dashes in both the Ripon and state meets last year, will undoubtedly prove an obstacle in the path of the Waukegan man.

GIVEN LONG TERMS IN STATE PRISON

Men Who Confessed to Killing Katlin
ski Must Serve Almost Life

Maruski, Frank Zimozak and Joseph Zajuchowski were sentenced in municipal court by Judge Brazee in the presence of the largest crowd that has ever filled the courtroom. ## SANG SONGS OF WELL KNOWN COMPOSERS

Among Them One by Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, Formerly of Janesville.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 29.—Madame Schumann-Hennik, the great German grand opera prima donna, who appeared in a song recital here at the Fuller opera house last night, paid a compliment to a Wisconsin woman by selecting as one of the songs of the program, "His Lullaby," the composition of Carrie Jacobs Bond of Janesville. This beautiful little song is built on the thought of a father singing to sleep his little girl, whose mother has died. At the conclusion of its singing the audience which packed the opera house made a tremendous demonstration of enthusiasm, calling the great singer to the stage again and again.

STORM WRECKS A SUMMER PARK

PRACTICALLY DESTROYED.

WAS JUST READY TO OPEN

Another Tornado Sweeps Through
Oklahoma—Lowlands of Missouri
Are Flooded by Heavy Rains.

Chicago, May 20.—One of the severest electrical, wind and rainstorms in years struck Chicago Thursday evening, doing immense damage in the city and suburbs. The greatest destruction was done to Forest Park, a large new summer amusement resort just built on the western edge of the city and which was to have been opened Saturday.

Lightning struck the great coaster, destroying it and the scenic railway and the wind wrecked five of the buildings. The extent of the damage was not known fully, but it was so great that the opening had to be postponed.

Another Oklahoma Tornado.
Guthrie, Okla., May 20.—A tornado has swept through the district between Henrietta and Navina. The towns of Zion and Wanamaker were in the direct track of the storm. Telegraph and telephone wires are down. Heavy rain, almost a cloudburst, fell over the central and northern parts of the state.

Missouri Lowlands Flooded.
St. Joseph, Mo., May 20.—Reports from Maryville, Oregon, Turke and other northwest Missouri towns are to the effect that thousands of acres of lowlands have been flooded. Most of this land had been planted to corn and the damage is heavy. In Nodaway county ten inches of rain fell within the last few days. The Missouri river is rising here and the government docks near Elwood under construction are threatened. In South St. Joseph a hundred houses are flooded.

Killed by Storm in Kansas.
Topeka, Kan., May 20.—A terrific windstorm of almost the proportions of a tornado which passed over the southern part of Jewell county Wednesday night killed one man and injured 22 persons, seven of them probably fatally.

The storm scattered a number of houses, barns and small buildings over the prairie. The property damage will amount to thousands of dollars and the damage to the growing crops is large.

High Wind at Quincy.
Quincy, Ill., May 20.—A windstorm swept over Quincy Thursday afternoon and did much damage. Buses running from the Country Club were dashed to pieces. E. L. Walcott and wife were taken from the wreck of one bus, severely hurt. Dr. Thomas D. Gardner was also hurt. Principal buildings at Wonderland park were blown away and many smaller buildings were demolished. Many trees were uprooted. George Werner was killed by lightning during the storm. Lightkeeper Zoult of Moxleyville was seen to start out in his boat on the Illinois river to light the beacons, and it is feared his boat was swamped.

FLORIDA TO BE TORPEDOED.
Monitor Probably Will Be Sunk in the Next Test.

Washington, May 20.—The next of the destructive tests to be made upon the monitor Florida is fixed for June 10. On that date the Florida will be taken from the Norfolk navy yard to a suitable spot in Hampton Roads, where the depth of water probably will not exceed 20 or 25 feet, and there will be attacked by an American Whitehead torpedo, which will be directed against a spot on the hull about six or eight feet below the water line, inside of which will be located a special form of bulkhead which probably will be filled with water. The torpedo will carry a bursting charge of 200 pounds of gun-cotton and is expected to sink the Florida at the first attempt. The vessel will easily be raised owing to the shallow depth of water.

IN A TIGHT PLACE

Conduct in an Emergency of a Man
Who Thought Himself a Coward.

"All you've got to do to make Joff Davis jump into the Arkansas river is to point a corn-cob pipe at him."

Recently some men on a train were fanning over this remark, made not long ago by a personal and political adversary of the senator from Arkansas.

"Well, I don't know how true this remark may be as applied to the Davis person," observed a Texan in the group, "but it is my opinion that such a remark could be truthfully applied to very few men. Most men are courageous in tight places, even the men who imagine deep down in their consciousness that they are instinctively and inherently cowardly."

"Take, for example, the case of Judge Freeman of Texas. Freeman imagined himself a coward. He had never—fortunately, he said—been put to a test, but he was dead certain that he would crawl in a tight place and show himself to the world as a coward."

"This was before he ever ran for office in Texas. When he first ran for office in a Texas town a peculiarly vitriolic editor of a paper published in the Texas town began to attack Freeman in a manner that could only mean blood."

"Judge Freeman's friends got around him and told him that he'd have to kill or at any rate wing the editor or get out of Texas."

"Freeman came to me in his trouble."

"I feel like I'm going to show the white feather in this business," he said to me. "You know what I've often told you. I'm a natural born coward. I've got a yellow streak. Just now the yellow streak is working this way."

"Two days after that the editor published another vile broadside and then we all knew it would happen."

"The editor left his office for home that afternoon. He hadn't taken a dozen steps before he caught sight of Judge Freeman emerging from the postoffice, about 60 yards down the street."

"Both men drew and fired at the same instant. But they were poor shots, both of them, and their bullets went wide. They continued to fire as they advanced upon each other."

"There was a sign of weakness in Freeman. On the contrary, he looked perfectly cool."

"There were only four cartridges in the editor's gun, and he fired all of them without making a hit. When he had fired all four shots he threw his gun on the ground to indicate to his opponent that he was through with firing, and that editor looked to me like a man ready to run."

"Judge Freeman still had two cartridges left in his gun. But when he saw his enemy threw his pistol away, the big heart of the man appeared. He lowered his gun and stood in the middle of the sidewalk, calmly waiting."

"The editor advanced upon him, seemingly for the purpose of thanking the judge for his generosity in not continuing the firing, and of making up. The judge, seeing this, followed his enemy's example and throw away his gun, in which the two cartridges remained. So there he stood, entirely unarmed."

"As soon as Freeman cast away his gun, the editor, who had advanced close to him, suddenly whipped out a bowie knife from beneath the collar of his coat and began to slash at Judge Freeman. It was a cur's trick, and that editor never was allowed to hold up his head in Texas again."

"Now here, if not before, was the spot for Judge Freeman to show his yellow streak, if he had one. The editor was chopping away at him, and Freeman didn't have so much as a pocket knife on him. But the man who so foolishly imagined himself to be a coward was not only equal to the occasion, he rose nobly above it."

"He reached out and grabbed the editor around the waist, and, being a powerful man, he threw the editor to the ground. Then he planted a foot upon the forearm of the hand that held the knife and wrenched the big blade from the prostrate editor's hand. Grasping the bowie, the judge bent over his bitter enemy and put the blade to the man's throat."

"Are you through?" he asked the man who was down."

"I am if you are," replied the editor.

"All right; get up," he said to the man whose life he could have taken as easily as slitting the throat of a possum."

"The editor got up and slouched away."

"You're the great old coward, I suppose," I said to Judge Freeman an hour or so after the encounter."

"His reply was curious."

"I reckon I am—just as much a coward now as ever I was," he told me."

"How do you make that out?" I asked him."

"Why, this way," he replied. "I wasn't myself when I had the run in with that fellow. I was somebody else. Otherwise, I never could have gone through with those proceedings."

"But I only laughed at him, as he deserved to be laughed at. His case and a great many other cases that I know about, proves that there is many a merely timid man walking up and down the world who imagines himself to be a coward merely because of his natural timidity, but who, as a matter of fact, hasn't got a cowardly drop of blood in his body."

ONLY EDUCATION THAT COUNTS.

Knowledge Absorbed Must Prove an Equipment to the Mind.

A man may be ignorant in nine languages; he may have coined the accumulated knowledge of the world and yet be uneducated; he may read the works of the wise men of the world and yet learn little wisdom; he may garner a huge collection of facts and yet avail himself of none of them. Education does not consist of knowledge, nor of learning mere facts, nor even of the exercise of the reason in connection with the facts and the knowledge. Roger Ascham hinted at the right education when he said of the unprofitable exercises of the schoolmen of the middle ages that "they were always learning and little profiting; their whole knowledge was tied only to their tongue and lips, and never ascended to the brain and head."

"That education is alone the real education which 'gets into the system,' becomes an instrument in the hand, an equipment to the mind, a part of the nature, an addition to human power, a development of the body and of the moral nature, the cultivation of the soul or the man spiritual."

Freddie—Because it was only a few minutes afterward that he was swearing over having to carve the turkey.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Self-Pity.
Hardly any man deserves half of his self-pity.

In the Matter of Numbers.
Next to the sands on the seashore and the stars in the heavens, the poems on "Compensation" seem to be most numerous.

Greedy Little Salmon.
Little creatures may be very greedy and yet not be able to eat much because of their size, as was illustrated, for instance, in the case of a batch of about 2,000 little Chinook salmon that were hatched out at the New York aquarium.

These young fishes, each about two inches long, would eat so much that their little stomachs fairly stuck out, and yet to feed the whole 20,000 took daily only one pound of liver and a quart of herring roe, both chopped fine.

Mixed but Emphatic.
"Since you got married you are into every morning," complained his employer.
"Well," explained the breathless clerk, "I have to button up the ashes and shake down a shirtwaist and carry out the furnace every morning."—Kansas City Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Osgood and two of the children spent a few days last week in Beloit.

Saturday night and Sunday, May 23rd and 24th, 1908, were red letter days for the Methodist Episcopal church. The members celebrated the semi-centennial of the present church building and strangely coincident with this was another important and interesting fact—Rev. Thomas Potter of Allens Grove, Wis., was here to celebrate his eightieth birthday. It was just fifty years last Saturday since he first came to Orfordville as pastor and fifty years last Sunday morning since he preached his first sermon.

On Saturday night the ladies' Aid gave their annual chicken pie supper in the newly remodeled church basement. About $25 was cleared. Rev. John Reynolds, presiding elder, was present and spoke very highly of Orfordville Methodism and of its veteran and beloved pastor, Rev. Potter. It was the plan of Rev. C. W. Bong, the present pastor, to give a short history of the church basement and then in some fitting manner to dedicate it. On account of the shortness of time, however, he spoke only a few words of tribute to the heroism and faith of the founders of the church and also very fittingly remembered the heroic work and faith of the church people and Ladies' Aid of today. He then introduced Rev. Thomas Potter who was to make the address of the evening. Rev. Potter, however, spoke only very briefly as the hour was late. Mrs. John Beck was then introduced and in a few well chosen remarks presented to Rev. Potter, in behalf of the church, a box containing eighty dollars—one for each year of his age.

Sunday was observed as a jubilee day. Rev. Potter preached as only he can preach on the text, "And it doth not yet appear what we shall be." It was a most impressive and expressive service. In the evening Rev. Bong preached the jubilee sermon and took for his text, "And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year . . . A jubilee shall that fiftieth year be unto you," Lev. 25:10, 11. Rev. Potter followed with a half hour's address on "How to prepare for a happy old age." His long life, his wonderful experiences, his firm faith and his close observance made his words ring and flash with truth and power. All who attended these services will not soon forget the jubilee Sunday of the semi-centennial.

Jail Delivery in Ohio.

Steubenville, O., May 29.—With a leader but 30 years old, who overpowered Sheriff D. J. Vorling, seven prisoners escaped Thursday night from the county jail here and have not been captured.

Our Attitude.

We are not in court trouble, nor are we to win it as the greatest of all evils. We are not to lie down supinely when it comes but find if we can a way out of it. We are not to consider our troubles greater than those of others. And always earnestly are we to believe that some rich blessing for our lives and the lives of others lies at the heart of the thing that now worries, degrades, overwhelms us.—Rev. H. A. Bridgman.

A Man's First Care.

A man's first care should be to avoid the reproaches of his own heart; his next, to escape the censures of the world. If the last interferes with the former, it ought to be entirely neglected; but otherwise there cannot be a greater satisfaction to an honest mind, than to see those approbations which it gives itself seconded by the applause of the public.—Joseph Addison.

Love Your Friends.

Love your friends, and do not put them from you. Tell them of your love not once but often; and do not merely tell it, but prove your words to them and repeat the proof. Open your heart and love them kindly. Make merry for them, make them happy, give them brightness, make your home cheery for them! The best opportunities we most regret were opportunities for loving.—The Better Way.

LIGHTNING RODS ARE A SURE PROTECTION

Did you ever realize how helpless you are in an electric storm when Heaven's artillery is blazing away around your home. Yet you can be assured of absolute protection from lightning if your house is rodless.

If you will call at my store I will show you a miniature lightning storm, will explain how lightning is made, its cause and its effects. I will make it strike a tiny house time and time again and then I will show you how to protect this same house by the use of my copper rods.

The artificial thunder storm is a revelation in the lightning rod business. Its purpose is to demonstrate the truth of a good lightning rod, the correct way to protect a house and to protect you from fakes.

The redemption of the lightning business from the cut throat gangs has been a big problem, but through the educational influence of practical demonstrations and the influence of the big insurance companies and of the United States we have redeemed it.

Call any time, or write for my little booklet.

VINES TO COVER THE SUNNY PORCH
WET WEATHER HAS GIVEN PLANTS CHANCE TO DEVELOP.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO KINDS
What Would Look Pretty on Your Home—Cover An Old Fence or Stump of Tree.
For beautifying the veranda, or covering the wall of a brick or stone house with a living coat of green which will be a joy to every lover of nature, there is a large variety of vines which grow with little care and are a perpetual delight.
The Boston Ivy and Virginia creeper, two vines known throughout America, cling to walls without support, and so are especially useful for covering walls. The former is not so hardy as the latter, but in the middle and southern latitudes it succeeds well and forms a beautiful mass against a wall. The Virginia creeper is perfectly hardy. It will climb up stone fences, outbuildings, and dead trees, transforming them into things of beauty.
The rapid growing Virginia flower vine is excellent for the veranda, giving a dense shade. It presents a snowy bank of star-shaped flowers of delicate fragrance which last for several weeks. A companion variety of climber, clematis, has rose colored flowers which resemble half closed rose buds at a distance. Clematis pulicaria, the Japan clematis, is one of the best of vines, growing rapidly and presenting a snowy mass of blossoms when in flower.
The wistaria is a good vine for a trellis but is somewhat coarse for most verandas, being better suited for the rustic house or pergola where its delightful purple flowers hang in graceful profusion. The Crimson Rambler rose is one of the hardiest and most satisfactory of climbers, admirably suited for the veranda.
Improvement of the canvas by plant specialists has made it indispensable in the home garden where flower beds are desired as an ornament on the lawn or parkway. The canvas is remarkable for its endurance in the full heat of the sun. Its leafy foliage always looks fresh and green and the better the sun the more abundantly the canvas flowers.
At the same time, canvas does well in the shade, although they flower less freely under such conditions. Canvas should be planted in good rich garden soil mixed with rotted stable manure in equal portions. Water sparingly the first two weeks after setting out the plants. It is best to obtain plants that have been started in a greenhouse, and they should not be set out until the latter part of May, when there is no longer any danger of frost.
When the plants are growing freely, they should be watered freely. Let the plants 18 inches apart each way and if more than one kind is used be careful to plant the taller growing kinds in the center and the dwarf ones along the edge of the bed.
Verandas can be obtained which will reach the height desired. Canvas beds as a rule should be planted with a single color. An excellent border for a canvas bed is made of salvia.
There are hundreds of named varieties of canvas, with large flowers and with small, tall and dwarf growing, and florists in every city may be found who will supply the plants to fit the requirements of a gardener.

TOBACCO REPORTS SHOW BUYING OVER
Little of Last Year's Crop Left to Be Picked up by the Buyers—Work on the Coming Season.

According to the Edgerton Tobacco Reporter, there is a gradual withdrawal from the buying movement and only a few concerns are now actually engaged in lifting the remaining fractions of the crop, which is about as closely picked up as it can be. The case when it is said a crop has been absorbed. What there is left is largely of assorted lots for which considerably better prices are paid than the average of the season. The American Cigar Co. have taken over quite large quantities the past few weeks, sales reaching us since last report are:

E. Wallick sold a 300c lot of '07 to a local packer.
Old stock is moving sparingly in the local market, though at figures that can hardly be said to be satisfactory. Warehouse handling is being pushed along as expeditiously as possible under the embarrassment of short help conditions. Calton & Well have opened up sorting rooms at Deerfield, Janesville and Fort Atkinson recently, to assist in curing for their large holdings.
Weather conditions have been suitable for the rapid advancement of the plant beds during the week, which now bid fair to be in readiness at the usual date of transplanting.
The shipments out of storage reach 1125 cases, besides to carloads of bundle goods, from this market to all points for the week; 65 carloads have been received from outlying points.

SMOKING CIGARS BY SPECIAL MACHINERY
Users of Weed Can Now Follow Divers. elon Without Any Bad Results.

A machine to smoke cigars, an ingenious device for testing selected tobacco, being used by students of the University of Wisconsin in connection with their work on tobacco-formation. The machine is employed to smoke the cigars automatically, so that an exact determination may be made in regard to how the tobacco burns. The variations due to the different manner and conditions of smoking by different men is thus eliminated, and the machine is brought to a practical basis which makes possible a just comparison of results.
Smokes by Water Power.
The machine is comparatively simple in its construction and operation, consisting as it does of three glass jars connected with each other and with a water faucet and outlet by rubber tubing and glass siphons. The first receptacle, a large inverted fruit jar, is connected with the faucet by a tube fastened to a siphon through the cork stopper. This furnishes a constant supply of water. A second siphon of about half the height is connected with the discharge sink, and lowers the level of the water internally. The third straight tube rising to the top of the jar is connected with the other two jars, and furnishes the "pull" on the cigar, drawing the smoke through to fill the vacuum caused by the intermittent lowering of the water level. The second jar, into which is added a tobacco, is filled with water which acts as a valve to prevent back-draw through the cigar. A short open tube in this second jar emits smoke-rings, forced out by the bursting of bubbles in the water. The third jar, into which the continuation of the tube leads, contains sulphuric acid, which absorbs the impurities in the smoke which would otherwise clog the apparatus. The cigar-holder stands in this jar also.
What the Machine Proves.
Three principle elements enter into the testing of the cigars: the characteristics of the filler, of the wrapper, and of the binder. The filling is tested for flavor, aroma and burning quality; the wrapper for elasticity, color, size and shape, fineness of vein and grain, flavor and burn; and the binder for burning quality and cohesion of ash. Many of these qualities, such as the color and grain of the leaves, may be determined simply by inspection, while the smoking test is necessary for the others. The tests are being made on cigars of the various qualities of filler, wrapper and binder in different combinations, to determine the balance of component parts which will give best results. For instance, it has been found that a heavy filler requires a comparatively heavy wrapper, and a light bodied filler takes a light wrapper. It is found, too, that the filler exerts the strongest influence on the evenness of the burn, while the influence of the wrapper, and especially that of the binder, is shown most strongly in the character of the ash.

Interurban Road in Rock County Worth $25,000—Valuations as Fixed by Railway Commission.

Janesville's street railway system is placed on the list of valuations by the state railway commission at $10,000. The valuation of the Rockford Interurban holdings in Rock county are placed at $25,000 and the Beloit city line recently built and equipped at $70,000. These valuations were made under the new state law, which requires that they be made by the railway commission. On May 28th the owners of the property assessed in this manner will have an opportunity of changing the valuation if they see fit.

MAY INCREASE RATES ON THE TRUNK LINES
Prospect That Some Changes Will Follow Conference in Chicago Recently.

The Western Trunk Line association is contemplating an increase in freight rates on certain commodities on which the present rates are considered insufficient. But there is no movement on foot to adopt a blanket schedule providing for a rise in rates or an increase generally on all commodities.
This information comes from a reliable source and definitely sets at rest rumors recently circulated to the effect that lines in this association, which includes the territory from Chicago to the Mississippi river and up into some of the northwestern states, were considering a general increase in freight rates on all commodities. This at least is certain so far as the matter has been carried up to the present and it is altogether improbable that it will be taken further. With regard to an increase of rates now thought too low to be profitable, no definite action has as yet been taken and probably will not be for some time yet.
For two weeks a committee of the Western Trunk Line association has been in session in Chicago. The members have been carefully going over all the territory. There has been no effort, so it is said, to increase the rates generally. Where the rates on a commodity, however, were found to be low, possibly too low for a reasonable profit, the committee has fixed an increase which is in the nature of a recommendation to the lines in the association. This procedure has been adhered to closely and applied impartially, so that no one class of freight, if the increase becomes effective, will suffer as a class.
When the work of the committee has been completed the recommendations to the officials of the different roads, and before adopted will be passed upon by the executive officers of the lines in the association.

Tall Wagged the Dog at the Special Meeting of Six Aldermen Last Evening.

Officer Sam Brown's salary that was to be paid last evening at the council chamber in response to the call of Mayor Haddlee, last evening, to reconsider the annual budget which was supposed to have been passed by a vote of 5 to 4 at the regular meeting Tuesday night, but which was found to be invalidated by the charter which requires an affirmative vote of six on all such measures. The six present were Aldermen Clarke, Carle, Walt, Haddlee, Rehfeld, and Tullin. The two last mentioned could not think of permitting the deed thing to be done in Sam Brown's case and so the other four had to consent to have the item of $288 stricken from the list in order that a vote of six might be secured and the balance of the budget passed. Having approved this balance, which included their own hard-earned wages, the City Fathers adjourned.

CHURCH "RING" IS BROKEN

NEW MEN TO GOVERN PRESBY. TERIANS HEREAFTER.

Creation of Executive Commission Aimed at Power of Dr. Roberts, Retiring Moderator.

Kansas City, Mo., May 29.—Church government, temperance, and marriage and divorce were the important subjects before the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America Thursday. By far the most important action of the session was the adoption of a resolution which makes it impossible for any paid agent or member of the church board or permanent officer of the general assembly except the moderator, to serve on the executive commission, the ruling body of the administrative affairs of the church.

The creation of the executive commission was embodied in the report of the committee on administrative agencies, adopted by the assembly, and is the direct result of the ever-recurring cry that certain men in the church were acquiring too much power.

From this time forth new men will be in charge of the government of the church. The action Thursday means that all the church boards will report to the executive commission of 15 members, when it has been selected, and that the government of the church will devolve on men who have not heretofore served in executive capacities.

While the speeches made before the assembly indicated that a half dozen men were in the so-called church "ring," it is an open secret that Dr. William Henry Roberts of Philadelphia, the retiring moderator, was the one man against whom the protests were aimed. Commissioners, talking about Dr. Roberts, said they loved him, but that he was so efficient in the affairs of the church, that his very ability gave him more power than one man should have.

The church reaffirmed its position that divorce should be granted only upon biblical grounds. The assembly approved the efforts of the international conference in influencing public opinion to overcome the evils that threaten the sanctity of the marriage relation, the integrity of the family and the welfare of the state.

The assembly voted to appropriate $35,000 to continue the work of the temperance committee and adopted a resolution declaring no revenues derived from the liquor business should be used for popular government and calling on congress to "protect" states that have abolished the traffic.

NO FILIBUSTER ON MONEY BILL

OPPOSITION WILTED BY THE EXTREME HEAT AT CAPITAL.

AGREE TO VOTE ON FRIDAY

Congress Seems Certain to Adjourn by Saturday at Latest—Measures Passed by the House.

Washington, May 29.—The anticipated strenuous opposition to the adoption of the conference report on the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill in the senate, according to the inference to be drawn from the debate Thursday, probably will not materialize.

Senator Aldrich kept the report before the senate until nearly four p. m., when he assented to its being held aside until 11 o'clock Friday and the remainder of the time was devoted to the passage of unobjectionable house bills on the calendar. Every senator realized that the meaning of this move was that an understanding had been reached to vote on the bill Friday. Inquiry proved the existence of this understanding, although no positive agreement had been made. The indications were therefore, that congress would adjourn also on Friday or Saturday.

Hot Weather Checks Fight. Unquestionably the temperature, which was higher Friday than at any time during the present session, had something to do with the indisposition on the part of many senators to discuss the bill. Palm leaf fans were in evidence among those senators who found it necessary to be on the floor, and at no time was there a quorum present except when the roll was being called to establish the quorum. During the morning the Democrats had sweltered through a conference lasting more than an hour at which it was decided not to filibuster against the bill. It is not likely that more than two Republicans will join the opposition.

The discussion was opened by Senator Aldrich, who made a brief statement concerning the compromise bill. Some of the Democrats then sought to get an agreement to consider the campaign publicity bill, and afterwards speeches against the currency measure were made by Senators Teller, Newlands and Owen. No other senators were ready to speak.

While the senate was wrestling with the currency question the business of the house went merrily on. The following measures were passed: To establish two or more fish cultural stations on Puget Sound, Washington; amending the laws of transportation between Hawaii and the United States by removing the penalty for carrying passengers from Hawaii to this country; providing for the entry of agricultural lands in forest reserves; authorizing the Baltimore and Washington Transit company of Maryland to enter the District of Columbia; establishing an assay office at Salt Lake City, Utah; incorporating the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and incorporating the congressional club, which is composed of the wives and daughters of senators and members in congress.

The work of the house being practically completed and the heat being unusually oppressive, a recess was taken until 11:15 Friday morning.

Admits He Killed Hazzett.

Frankfort, Ky., May 29.—The mystery which has surrounded the death of Newton Hazzett, the prominent young farmer of Shelby county who was found dead on the road last Friday morning with two bullet holes over his heart, was explained in Shelby county circuit court Thursday afternoon when Walker Duncan, a neighbor of Hazzett, a well-known farmer and member of the Law and Order League, confessed that he killed Hazzett, believing him to be a night rider about to burn his tobacco barn.

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

"What shall I do if I come with you?"

"Go? Eat and drink and waste time and money, like the rest of us? Eh, Phindar?"

"Of course," said Mr. Phindar, with a placid smile.

"I shouldn't be a servant again?"

"Everybody in my house is a slave, I'm told, but you won't be more of a slave than the rest."

"Will you have me taught?"

"Lady Meg looked hard at her. For the first time she smiled, rather grimly.

"Yes, I'll have you taught, and I'll show you the queen of England and, if you behave yourself, the emperor of the French—Lord help him!"

"Not unless she believes herself!" murmured Mr. Phindar.

"Hold your tongue, Phindar! Now, then, what do you say? No, wait a minute. I want you to understand it properly." She became silent for a moment. Julia was thinking her a very rude woman; but, since Phindar did not mind, why need she?

"Lady Meg resumed. 'I won't make an obligation of you—I mean I won't be bound to you, and you shall not be bound to me. You'll stay with me as long as you like or as long as I like, as the case may be. If you want to go, put your valise and send it to me. And if I want you to go I'll put a hundred pound note in an envelope and send it to you, upon which you'll go and no reasons given! Is it agreed?"

"It sounds all right," said Sophy.

"Did you always have that mark on your cheek?"

"Yes, always. Father told me so."

"Well, will you come?"

"Sophy was torn. The stage was very attractive, and the love she had for Julia Robbins held her as though by a cord. But was the stage a poor thing? Was that mysterious red thing better? Though even of that this strange woman spoke scornfully. Already there must have been some underground channel of understanding between them, for Sophy knew that Lady Meg was more than interested in her—that who was actually excited about her, and Lady Meg, in her turn, knew that she played a good card when she dangled before Sophy's eyes the queen of England and the emperor of the French, though even then came that saving 'Lord help him!' to damp an over-ardent expectation.

"Let me speak to Julia," said Sophy.

Lady Meg nodded. The girls linked arms and walked apart. Phindar came to Lady Meg's elbow.

"Another whim?" said he in a low voice. Phikes was looking around the view with a kind of vacant contentment.

"Yes," she said. His lips moved. "I know what you said. You said, 'You old fool! Phindar!'"

"Never, on my life, my lady?" They seemed more friends now than patron and client. Few saw them thus, but Phindar told Dunstunbury, and the old gentleman was no liar.

"Give me one more!" she whispered, blushing excitedly. "That mark must mean something. It may open a way."

"For her?" he asked, smiling.

"It must for her. It may for me."

"A very where?"

"To knowledge—knowledge of the unknown. They may speak through her!"

"Lady Meg! Lady Meg! And if they don't, the hundred pound note! It's very cruel."

"Who knows—who knows, Phindar? Fate has her ways."

He shrugged his shoulders and smiled. "Not half as amusing as your ladyship's!"

Sophy, twenty yards off, thought her arms around Julia. The embrace was long. It spoke farewell. Lady Meg's eyes brightened. "She's coming with me," she said. Phindar shrugged his shoulders again and fell back to heel. Sophy walked briskly up.

"I'll come, my lady," she said.

"Good! Tomorrow afternoon—to London. Mrs. Brownlow has the address. Goodbye." She turned abruptly on her heel and marched off, her retinue following.

Julia came to Sophy.

"We can write," she said. "And she's right. You must be for the real thing, Sophy!"

"My dear, my dear!" murmured Sophy, half in tears. "Yes, we must write." She drew back and stood erect. "It's all very dark," she said, "but I like it. London—and Paris! On the Seine!" Old lessons came back with new import now.

"The emperor of the French!" Julia mocked, with tears in her eyes.

A sudden thought occurred to Sophy. "What did she mean by 'Perceval's young person?' Is his name Perceval?"

Julia gave a little cry. "Lord Dunstunbury?" Yes. You've seen him again?"

She drew out the story. It made the sorrow of parting half forgotten.

"You owe this to him, then! How romantic!" was actress Julia's conclusion. "In part a true one, no doubt. But Sophy, looking deeper, fingered the red star. She had tracked the magnet of Lady Meg's regard, the point of her interest, the pivot of decision for that mind of whims.

Chapter Five

WITH that scene in the avenue of elm-trees at Morpington there comes a falling of the veil. Letters passed between Sophy and Julia Robbins, but they have not yet begun. Basil Williamson did not move in the same world with Lady Meg and her entourage. Dunstunbury was in Ireland, where his regiment was then stationed. For the next twelve months there is only one glimpse of Sophy—that a passing and accidental one, although not without its significance—was throwing a light on Lady Meg's adoption of Sophy—while it lasted it amounted to that—and on the strange use to which she hoped to be able to turn her protégé. The reference is, however, tantalizingly vague. Just where explicitness would have been of curious interest, though hardly of any real importance to a sensible mind.

The reference occurs in a privately printed volume of reminiscences by the late Captain Hans Fleming, B. N., a sailor of some distinction, but better known as a naturalist. Writing in the winter of 1865-66 he gives no precise date, he describes in a letter a meeting with Lady Meg, whom, it will be noticed, he calls "old Lady Meg," although at that time she was but forty-nine. She had so early in life taken up an attitude of resolute splendor that there was a tendency to exaggerate her years.

"Early in the park I met old Lady Meg Duddington. It was piercing cold, but the carriage was drawn up, under the trees. The poor spaniels on the opposite side were shivering. She stooped and was, for her, very gracious. She only 'Lord help me' twice in the whole conversation. She was full of her ghosts and spirits, her seers and witches. She has got hold of an entire new prophesy."

Is new prophesy, a certain woman who calls herself Miss Mantis and knows all the secrets of the future, both this side the grave and the other. He told Lady Meg sat a remarkably striking girl.

That Nasal Catarrh

A Prominent Attorney of Leonardtown, Md.

Nasal Catarrh is a nauseating disease anyone knows who has had to sit close to, or talk face-to-face with a person reeking with pungent catarrh. To get a whiff of the bad breath of such a person is to sicken at once and turn away.

Have you ever had to endure, in sickening silence, the hawking and gagging of a Catarrh victim, or have to sit close to such a person and experience a disgusting, appetite-losing, foul odor, which you could not explain and did not know what it was? That's Catarrh, and there are plenty of people who have it. You can get rid of your case without much delay and avoid becoming an object of aversion to others, or even members of your own family, by merely using the simplest cure in the world—Bunsen's Catarrh Cure.

Millions of trial boxes are given away annually, thereby risking our reputation and every one that is tried produces immediate beneficial results.

Lung Capacity.

The normal capacity of the lungs of the average man is 230 cubic inches. 100 of these contain what is called residual air, 100 are complementary air and the remaining 30 represent the tidal air—the ebb and flow of breathing. By a deep respiration it would be possible to get 100 cubic inches more. The average man breathes from 15 to 17 times a minute, and in 24 hours his inspiration and expiration would fill a balloon of 850 cubic feet capacity.

No matter whether your garden is of the wide reaching Italian made sort or is just a natural bit of ground covered with untrained flowers, you should have a stone water basin in it. These artistically beamed rocks have become popular with the owners of country places, even small ones. On great merit of the pretty accessory is that it attracts birds.

A Boston Charily.

Not all the old hats go to the scrap, at least they do not all go there when they are discarded by the owners, says the Boston Record. Some hat dealers send them to the country house, where they are given to the drunks and other men who have lost their head covering either in the scrap that preceded their arrest or in the proceedings that followed.
